20.00 - 23.00 Welcome Reception with Buffet Dinner at Grand Cafe Horta

sponsored by ALTIUS, DLA PIPER, ETHIKOS, GEVERS, INTEO, JANSON, KIRKPATRICK, NOVAGRAAF, WIGGIN

At the turn of the twentieth century, Belgium was a hotspot of the Art Nouveau style. Architects such as Victor Horta, Octave van Rysselberghe and Henry Van de Velde designed revolutionary new buildings with asymmetrical, curved lines inspired by nature. Grand Café Horta, opened in 2000, is an icon in Antwerp's theatre district. It comprises a modern Grand Café and an awe-inspiring Art Nouveau Hall. Decorated with the original iron rafters recovered from the demolished Maison du Peuple by Victor Horta, it pays homage to an architectural masterpiece.

Dress Code: Smart casual

The venue is in walking distance, no bus transfers will be provided. Guests should make their way to Grand Café Horta individually.

Address: Hopland 2, 2000 Antwerp

18.30 - 22.30 Belgian Buffet Dinner with a Walk in Antwerp Zoo

The Marble Hall is the historical heart of the FMCCA. The impressive columns of pink marble, the high ceiling and windows give a spacious and stylish feeling to the room. During the welcome drink and appetizer, guests will have the possibility to visit the Winter Garden, a late 19th century architectural gem of glass and steel providing a tropical illusion. Entering this Winter Garden is like arriving in a dense woodland, where you can walk among hundreds of butterflies during the Spring and Summer.

The dinner will continue after an evening walk in the Antwerp Zoo.

20.00 - 03.00 Gala Dinner at *Handelsbeurs

In the Middle Ages, the port of Antwerp became a crucial link in world trade. The city was home to thousands of merchants from all over Europe. In the course of the fifteenth century, they began to buy and sell not just goods, but shares of a ship's cargo. Soon the wooden buildings where the transactions took place became too cramped, and the city decided to build a new, dedicated stock exchange just outside the gates – the first of its kind in the entire world, which served as a model for similar buildings in London, Amsterdam, and other European cities.

The current neogothic building, inspired by the sixteenth-century original, was designed by Joseph Schadde (1872). After a long and intensive renovation the building complex of the Handelsbeurs, the adjacent Schippersbeurs (where traders and merchants negotiated the freighting of ships and skippers received their missions) and a connected housing block was reopened in October 2019.
